BEST DATES TO RETIRE 2015

Here's a guide to understanding the calendar below:

- Consider the end of the month (highlighted in blue) and possibly a mid-month leave period (highlighted in gray) if you are retiring under FERS.

- If you're covered under CSRS (including CSRS Offset), consider the end of the month, or the first three days of the month (highlighted in yellow).

- April, May and October are months with particularly attractive dates at the end of the month since they are near the end of a leave period (highlighted in gray).

- The 2015 leave year will end on Jan. 9, 2016.

- Depending on your work schedule, retirement plan and motivation, your best date to retire near the end of the 2015 leave year might be Dec. 31 — or if you're under CSRS, Jan. 1, 2, or 3, 2016. If you're in FERS, it may pay to wait until Jan. 9 to take advantage of the end of the leave year and a mid-month leave period.
