Overview of the Criminal Enterprise

2. To enrich themselves and further the goals and aims of the Park Criminal Enterprise, defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators engaged in the following schemes:

a. Fraudulent Driver's License Scheme. The Park Criminal Enterprise fraudulently obtained genuinely issued driver's licenses, issued by New Jersey, New York, Virginia, Nevada, and elsewhere, on behalf of the Customers. To fraudulently obtain these genuinely issued driver's licenses, defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators obtained, created, and counterfeited a variety of documents that they then sold to the Customers to allow them to fraudulently obtain driver's licenses. As part of the scheme, defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators purchased genuine United States immigration documents that had been stolen by defendant Martin Trejo, a federal government contract employee. Thereafter, the Park Criminal Enterprise falsified these immigration documents, altered and counterfeited other immigration documents, such as passports, and created and provided to the Customers other fictitious document, such as fictitious utility bills and bank statements. The Park Criminal Enterprise maintained a network of co-conspirators in New Jersey, Nevada, Georgia, and Virginia that met with the Customers, provided them with the fraudulent documents in exchange for cash, and then escorted the Customers to various state agencies that issued driver's license. The Customers referred in this Criminal Complaint had no lawful immigration status in the United States or were otherwise each ineligible to obtain driver's licenses. These Customers typically paid the Park Criminal Enterprise a fee of approximately $3,000 to $4,500 for the enterprise's unlawful services.

b. E-2 Visa Scheme. For a fee of approximately $10,000, the Park Criminal Enterprise fraudulently obtained E-2 visas (a visa that allowed a foreign national to enter and work in the United States as an investor) by creating fictitious companies and the supporting documents necessary to file a petition for the visa with the USCIS.

Cooperating Witness One

3. As part of this investigation, law enforcement officers debriefed Cooperating Witness One. Cooperating Witness One reported the following information:

a. Defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators fraudulently obtained driver's license in various states for Customers, and virtually all of defendant Young-Kyu Park's "business" was illegal in nature. Defendant Young-Kyu Park placed advertisements in Korean newspapers wherein defendant Young-Kyu Park stated he could obtain driver's licenses and provide other immigration services. To obtain the driver's licenses, defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators obtained information and documents from the Customers, such as Korean passports or a Korean citizen number, Forms I-94 [a United States immigration document issued to visitors to the United States who hold a valid U.S. visa that records the arrival and departure information of the visitor], documents to verify the Customer's address, if available, and a social security number, if available. The Customers did not have legal immigration status in the United States and therefore could not lawfully obtain driver's licenses in New Jersey. Cooperating Witness One reported that defendant Young-Kyu Park charged each Customer a fee of between approximately $3,000 and $4,500 cash to obtain driver's licenses in New Jersey and elsewhere.

b. Defendant Young-Kyu Park obtained, manufactured, and provided to Customers a variety of fraudulent, counterfeited, and altered documents to allow the Customer to deceive state agencies and induce them to issue driver's licenses to the illegal alien Customers. For example, where a Customer could not legitimately meet the 6-point requirement to obtain a New Jersey driver's license, defendant Young-Kyu Park obtained authentic but fraudulently obtained Forms I-797<sup>1</sup> for the Customers. Defendant Young-Kyu Park and his co-conspirators then entered the Customers' real data into the Forms I-797. Furthermore, the Customers then used the Forms I-797, along with other documentation, to fraudulently obtain New Jersey driver's licenses.

c. In or around late October 2010, defendant Young-Kyu Park approached Cooperating Witness One and requested him/her to assist defendant Young-Kyu Park's Customers. Defendant Young-Kyu Park directed Cooperating Witness One to advertise in a local Korean newspaper with the name "New Jersey Drivers Licenses." Defendant Young-Kyu Park advised Cooperating Witness One to use his/her own phone number in the advertisement (hereinafter the "Cooperating Witness One Facility").

4. As requested by defendant Young-Kyu Park and under the supervision and direction of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in or around early November 2010, Cooperating Witness One placed an advertisement in a Korean newspaper, advertising defendant Young-Kyu Park's services under the name "New Jersey Driver's License" [sic] and listing the Cooperating Witness One Facility. The advertisement ran from on or about November 12, 2010 to on or

1. A Form I-797 is used by USCIS, a division of the Department of Homeland Security, to communicate with customers or convey an immigration benefit. State agencies that issue driver's licenses rely on Forms I-797 to verify the authenticity of the applicant's foreign passport and to verify the applicant's lawful presence in the United States. The Form I-797 is a government document and is property of the United States. USCIS uses numerous types of Form I-797, including the following: (a) Form I-797 is issued when an immigration application or petition is approved; (b) Form I-797A is issued to an applicant as a replacement Form I-94 (an Arrival and Departure Record used by both USCIS and U.S. Customs and Border Protection (hereinafter "CBP")) to track visitors to the United States traveling on non-immigrant visas); (c) Form I-797B is issued for approval of an alien worker petition; (d) Form I-797C is issued to communicate receipt of payments, rejection of applications, transfer of files, fingerprint biometric, interviews and re-scheduled appointments, and to re-open cases; (e) Form I-797D is issued with benefit cards, such as Employment Authorization Documents and Permanent Residence Cards (commonly known as "green cards"); (f) Form I-797E is issued to request evidence; and (g) Form I-797F, Transportation Letter, is issued overseas to allow applicants to travel to the United States. The Forms I-797 are not accessible by civilians, and these forms are only accessible by employees of the United States government. These forms are not permitted to be sold by to civilians. The Form I-797 is not a form that is filled out by the customer.

about February 15, 2011. After placing this advertisement, Cooperating Witness One began receiving calls from potential customers with "immigration" and "driver's licenses" issues who sought defendant Young-Kyu Park's services. After the Customer called, Cooperating Witness One stated that he/she collected information from the Customer, determined which services the Customer needed, and then communicated this information to defendant Young-Kyu Park, who then manufactured or obtained the needed documents for the Customers and made the arrangements necessary to deliver the requested services to the Customers. According to Cooperating Witness One, the Customers usually only communicated directly with Cooperating Witness One, who acted as a middleman between the Customers and defendant Young-Kyu Park. Cooperating Witness One also reported that defendant Young-Kyu Park frequently sent Customers to Cooperating Witness One so that he/she could handle the logistics of the Customers' cases and accompany the Customers to an office of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Commission (hereinafter the "NJMVC").

5. Customer S.K.

a. On or about November 23, 2010, an individual with the initials S.K. (hereinafter "Customer S.K.") contacted Cooperating Witness One over the Cooperating Witness One Facility. During this consensually recorded conversation, Customer S.K. requested to meet with Cooperating Witness One. Later that day, Cooperating Witness One met Customer S.K. in Fort Lee, New Jersey. During this consensually recorded meeting (audio and video), Customer S.K. stated that he needed to change the expiration date on his passport and needed supporting documents so that he could obtain a driver's license.

b. On or about December 8, 2010, Customer S.K. contacted Cooperating Witness One over the Cooperating Witness One Facility. During this consensually recorded conversation, Cooperating Witness One advised Customer S.K. to bring his social security card and his old passport with the visa attached. Customer S.K. asked which documents would be provided to him for obtaining his driver's license and whether or not he should be worried about being caught by the NJMVC. Cooperating Witness One told Customer S.K. not to worry. Later that day, Cooperating Witness One met Customer S.K. in Fort Lee, New Jersey. During this consensually recorded meeting (audio and video), Customer C.K. provided Cooperating Witness One with the requested documents.

c. On or about December 8, 2010, at the Young-Kyu Park Fort Lee Office, Cooperating Witness One provided defendant Young-Kyu Park with Customer S.K.'s documents for his "passport job." This meeting was consensually recorded (audio and video).

d. On or about December 9, 2010, Cooperating Witness One met defendant Young-Kyu Park at the Young-Kyu Park Fort Lee Office. This meeting was consensually recorded (audio). During this meeting, Cooperating Witness One retrieved from defendant Young-Kyu Park an altered and fraudulently obtained Form I-797 in Customer S.K.'s name and S.K.'s passport that had been altered with a new expiration date. During the meeting, defendant Young-Kyu Park reviewed the altered passport and stated, in substance and in part, "you will need to charge $300 more. I do not keep the stamp at home. Why would I keep it at home? Under the recent circumstances, my heart trembles when I go get the stamp . . ." Your Affiant believes that during this consensually recorded conversation defendant Young-Kyu Park was referring to a consular seal that he uses to alter the expiration dates on his Customers' passports.

CW1: Lately, I wanted to raise the price, but will do it after some consideration. [The charge] is same as before.

HSC: How much?

CW1: $3,500.

HSC: Then, how much will be the wholesale price? Huh?
CW1: That will be as you've done before, you keep around $1,000.
HSC: Yes.
CW1: Yes, from $3,500. I guess that will be how it will go.
HSC: You mean that I would collect $3,500 and keep around $1,000?
CW1: Yes-yes. I guess you may deduct $1,000 from $3,500.
HSC: I will. I know several people who are under such conditions. I couldn't get it touch with you, I thought it couldn't be done, so I didn't try. Now I got it.
CW1: For a while, I didn't do it for a while. [laugh]

CW1: It's real, right?

YKP: It's probably real since you're doing by giving person's information.

CW1: Yeah.

YKP: I don't know. She said she's going to look into it. She wouldn't lie.

CW1: Yeah.

YKP: I asked for several things when I met with her. We talked for a couple of hours and I came back. . . . I did. I don't know-I tried not to meet her if possible but-because a long time ago, I got help from her for many people-

CW1: Yeah.

YKP: By any chance, later [UI]. I met her because I was desperate. I was going to meet her last week but couldn't-she said she had time this Monday so we met. . . . We met but I don't know-Not sure if it'll go well-I should get a response. I gave an offer so she'll call and say she can or cannot do it. And we also talked about marriage visa. . . .

Defendant Young-Kyu Park stated that he had been using Forms I-797B, the form used by individuals in the process of obtaining green cards. Defendant Young-Kyu Park then stated the following, in substance and in part [YKP = defendant Young-Kyu Park and CW1 = Cooperating Witness One] :

YKP: So, I looked for this person [Your Affiant believes defendant Young-Kyu Park was referring to defendant Karine Michmichian] and . . . I need the documents [forms] . . . but the documents are different. The documents, the documents for green card in progress cases are called 797B. They are. . . Ours are 797C, you know. The forms are different. Because [the documents for] green card in progress [cases] don't have a line for cut at the bottom. . . And the color is different. They are in yellowish color. . . Green cards are different. . . They give a form letter to the person whose application is in receipt. I find many states give such a letter. So, the one of the reasons I open an office for [defendant Jong-Hyek Park] is that. Of course the DMV thing is there too. . . . This is a thing that requires a lot of calls with schools, so . . . with the boys, and decided to make it and do it. . . . But the schools require original documents. They require to bring original documents, and they take a copy and do it. . . . Once, I found an old one, washed it and used it, but it looked so obvious [fake]. . . . So I wanted to order the original [forms] and tried to contact the person who supplies originals. My calls didn't go through. But succeeded once. (emphasis added) . . . Succeeded. And [the person] said [she] would look for them and they might cost more.

CW1: Yes.

YKP: But, I am in need. . . . I have been snug till now, but I am under pressure now. Because I have to make the documents very shortly. . . . Yesterday and the day before, Saturday and Sunday, my calls were not picked up. A message was received late last night, but I couldn't call back because it was too late.

CW1: To the woman?

YKP: Um. Because I returned at 8 o'clock from the mountain.

CW1: Yes.

YKP: I returned at 8 o'clock. . . . So, anyway, to get those, I have been calling since this morning but they are not picked up. When I talked, [she said] they are available but they might cost more. . . . she will ask about them . . . will ask me to bring the money. . . . Since there are [UI] and I may need to send the money.

So, I have to call back shortly. . . . Anyway. That is the situation. So, then, I still have some of the other documents . . . some of them . . . [short pause] . . . the school registration thing, the in-state tuition thing, you know. . . . [short pause] Hello?

CW1: If the person sent you a message, I guess the person would take your call. I wonder why?

YKP: Nah. I found it was received late last night. When I woke up this morning. . . . the call was . . . I came home very late last night . . . the call was . . . So I have to call back. But I . . . the documents are not a problem. I told you about 797B, which is for getting in-state tuition. I told you it's a little different, you remember?

CW1: Yes-yes. That is the problem now. . . .

YKP: That matter is killing me now. Shit. It is supposed to be submitted soon. So, whatever is happening, since I am returning there [Californial] on 23rd, so I will try to solve it as quick as possible. Just keep that in mind. But since it doesn't matter with what we are doing. . . . Just know that. Because I still have some of them. Um?

CW1: I've got it.

I asked for 50 sheets of school registration thing and 100 sheets only [of other thing]. This person told me that it should be exactly like what we did before . . . that response was received. And so, I told I would contact about the matter in early January [2012].

CW1: Yes.

YKP: And I asked for 10 sheets of school registration for now at any price [the person] wants, so it was agreed to get them on Monday. [This meeting was later changed to after the New Year].

CW1: Um.

YKP: Um. So, I think the deal will go though. Because, the money is, about $100,000 is at stake, and do you think the person would walk away? [UI] after getting the promise, [UI], I guess [the person] will make calls about it. We agreed to talk on Monday [short pause] since I am out for dinner, I will call again later.

CW1: Yes, I see.

YKP: Okay. Um. Later.

CW1: Yes-yes.

Defendant Young-Kyu Park stated that the person [believed by Your Affiant to be defendant Karine Michmichian] asked for $200,000. Defendant Young-Kyu Park further stated that he told the person that he would need twenty or thirty sheets of the school thing, six sheets at first, and the person agreed to give them-free of charge, in return for doing the other, as before. [Your Affiant submits that defendant Young-Kyu Park requested approximately twenty or thirty of the Forms I-797 variants to try the tuition scheme, and defendant Karine Michmichian agreed to give him approximately six samples of these forms for free, with the understanding that the bulk purchase would follow]. Cooperating Witness One then asked if the money was ready, and defendant Young-Kyu Park replied that he had $100,000 ready, and thinks he would get approximately 100 sheets, maybe a little more for that, but he would need $200,000 if he wants to do as the person demands.

YKP: Um, I will be. On 27th I will go to L.A.

CW1: Ah, you go around 27th?

YKP: I will go to LA on 27th and stay there until January 5th, January 6th. Stay until January 6th. . . . And return here.

YKP: The, the, I have, by now, 38, about 40 documents now. [defendant Young-Kyu Park had approximately 38 to 40 I-797A/B remaining]. . . . If, by any chance . . . I will do it anyway. . . In January, I will do it . . . 100 sheets or more . . . I plan to do it once more at least. Because . . . I got to think that I will do it until February or March . . . will do it until March. . . . So, early January, after the holidays, if it happens, I think there will be bunches [of customers] coming. In fact, in Virginia, if a person like me or you go there and stay. . . .

* * * *

CW1: President . . . When do you plan to make the purchase?

YKP: Umm. I am going to . . . next week . . . not next week, in early January, will do it. That's what I will do . . . so . . .

k. On or about December 26, 2011, at approximately 12:25 p.m. (EST), defendant Young-Kyu Park called Cooperating Witness One over the Cooperating Witness One Facility. CW1: If by any chance . . . when you make the purchase . . . if you need . . . inform me again. I may be able to do it by then.

YKP: January, January, anyway, what's that, around next week, I am going to . . . because of the tuition thing. . . . Even though I may need to pay more, I plan to do it for now. Because, they accept original documents only. . . . That, they need to file it. I heard they may submit it by January 9th. . . . So after submitting it, I am going to see. For now, I am going to try. Because if I start it, since I am going to try it for 50 sheets. . . . If it doesn't succeed, they will be just useless trash. . . . So, for now, I want just several sheets. Even though I may need to pay a little more. I said I just want to try it, I don't know if this will be accepted or not. . . . After trying it like that, and if it succeeds, I will, for a bundle. . . . I will run them. For once more.

CW1: I wonder if they'd give them like that?

YKP: Well, I am going to try to suggest like that. Early next week. I told, Sean [Jong-Hyuk Park] told them so.

CW1: Yes.

YKP: [Defendant Jong-Hyuk Park said] My father needs 'B' rather than those. There are 797C and B, you know. . . . What is submitted is B. . . . When I say I will try several and do it . . . because I am not asking a lot. . . . I think she will agree to it. And also because the guy is not in such a relation with me.

CW1: Yes.

YKP: I have been dealing . . . in such a nice manner.

CW1: I think it's lucky if she agrees to do so.

YKP: So after trying it, I will run them. Since I will run them just once more.

CW1: Yes, that's right. Ahh, you mean you took them, cases?

YKP: Um. Six persons. I received the money also.

CW1: Yes-yes.

YKP: At first, I thought I could just give a copy, but they [the schools] require originals.

CW1: Yes.

YKP: So it became a problem. So it comes to that I need to prepare them. . . . I asked [someone] to supply 6 sheets only for now, saying that I have 6 people I agreed to do it. So today or tomorrow. But one fortunate thing is that they may submit it to school by January 9th.

n. On or about January 2, 2012, defendant Young-Kyu Park sent and email from the Second Young-Kyu Park Email Account to Cooperating Witness One. In this email, defendant Young-Kyu Park wrote the following:

Note that we [previously] used [I-797] A [and] B. There is a C but A is for "Primary" [English] approved person, B is for "Dependent" [English] approved person, C is a receipt for all immigration documents, or acts as the "petition" [English] sent to the attorney, permanent legal status receipt sent to the customer, or approved person document. However, we started out using only the A, then in the middle used B. This is because they said it was hard to get the A, but both A and B have the tear line and can both be used without any problems, which is why we just used [them both]. But C does not have the tear line and cannot be used for the same purposes as A or B. . . . If you have some extra money that will not burden you then I wish for you to deposit $20,000 by this Friday. If you can do this, it will be better to deposit with a check rather than cash. It is okay if you cannot do this [deposit money]. This time I talked it over with my wife and agreed to do it once again. Whatever I am short I will [make up] by using a few months of my daughter's money. I should be helping you out, but if you can give me the $20,000 that I am asking of you, then I will send you 11 sheets that you can [resell] to someone you know or use it personally to help yourself. Do not misunderstand my mentioning the documents because the reason I am telling you about the documents is because I think you probably have personal cases of your own. So I desire to provide you with at least that benefit. If the job finishes before you are able to use all of it [the forms] then I will be sure to return [the money] to you. As stated in the beginning, if you have some extra money but spent it somewhere else or need to spend it somewhere else, then that is okay and do not feel burdened. If you have it [the money for me] then

I wish to get it by Friday. I will diligently get [more] cases and contact you.
