

Amber Herz

Program Assistant, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), USDA

Being born and raised in a small, Colorado town, the farming and ranching community has always been part of Amber's life and still is as a part of her career with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service.

Amber is currently a Program Assistant in the Sidney, Nebraska field office. For 6 years, she's enjoyed working with agriculture producers, and exploring options to expand the way they do business.
