

Ameaar Mitchell, a native Philadelphian, has worked to foster and nurture client relationships at GovExec since November 2021. A recent college graduate from Temple University with a BA in Political Science, he has a passion for government and persuasion. Ameaar is an attentive and empathic account representative. These qualities are at the forefront of his commitment and effort. Ameaar can be found running on the Schuylkill River Trail or with his friends grilling on the back patio in his free time.
