

Carol Crawford, MPA, is the Digital Media Branch Chief, Division of Public Affairs in the Office of the Associate Director at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). She is responsible for leading CDC's digital media activities including oversight for CDC's web site and social media profiles. Carol has been involved in CDC's Web and Social Media activities since their inception, including digital responses to high profile events such as Ebola, Zika, and H1N1.