

Christine Quinn is a Director of Digital Strategy, Global Government at Salesforce. Christine serves as a trusted advisor to Public Sector customers, helping them transform their missions while inspiring them to achieve breakthrough digital transformation results by effectively capitalizing on the innovation available through the Salesforce platform. With over two decades of proven experience in front end and back end business operations, Christine solves enterprise problems; driving efficiency and automation. Christine successfully led key initiatives leveraging technology to simplify operations, improve citizen engagement, and employee experience. She works closely with State and Local customers on Transportation modernization initiatives.