

Dan Vock is a senior reporter who covers transportation, infrastructure and state politics for Route Fifty. His reporting has taken him to study dirt roads in Utah, runways in Pittsburgh, rail tunnels in New York and port facilities in Los Angeles. Dan's work has appeared in Politico, Crain's Chicago Business, MotherJones, Bloomberg Businessweek, Governing and Stateline. He lives in Washington, D.C.