

Dr. Jeffrey Pullen is Associate Director, Financial Systems for The United States Justice Department. He oversees several Department financial management and payroll systems, is an active panelist and expert of Government financial systems. He also as an Adjunct professor for several colleges covering courses in accounting, business, and information systems.