

Jason Noker is a technology evangelist and Partner/Co-Founder of srcLogic. After 13 years in the BPM software industry as a Consultant, Sales Engineer, Account Executive, and Vice President of Sales, Jason set out to disrupt the market with a unique, transformative approach to solution delivery. Over the past 4 years Jason's focus has been managing srcLogic's strategic growth and ensuring that each and every customer engagement successfully deploys to production.

Jason has won both industry and customer awards including PEX Best BPM Project and the Admiral Stanley A. Arthur Award for Logistics Excellence. Jason graduated from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute where he earned a Bachelor's of Science in Management & Technology. Jason is passionate about sports and in his spare time can be found coaching his son at McLean Little League in Northern Virginia.