 - If we require you to leave the Event, you will not be eligible to receive a refund of any fees paid to us related to the event. All determinations are at our sole discretion. We will involve law enforcement if we deem appropriate.
- This Event may feature a Q&A. Please note that all submissions to the Q&A platform are visible to Google, and we reserve the right to moderate, edit, or remove submissions at our sole discretion.

Settling disputes, governing law, and courts

- Google is not responsible for liability associated with the Event.
- California law will govern all disputes arising out of or relating to these terms, regardless of conflict of laws rules. These disputes will be resolved exclusively in the federal or state courts of Santa Clara County, California, USA, and you and Google consent to personal jurisdiction in those courts.
- To the extent that applicable local law prevents certain disputes from being resolved in a California court, then you can file those disputes in your local courts. Likewise, if applicable local law prevents your local court from applying California law to resolve these disputes, then these disputes will be governed by the applicable local laws of your country, state, or other place of residence.
