

Jason Dudash is a creative and innovative technologist, strategist and problem solver. He is a subject matter expert in Kubernetes, cloud, appdev, and mobile who loved architecting systems and bridging the gap between systems & software development. He has worn many hats on both large and small program teams (and on big and small solutions, e.g: autonomous aircrafts / mobile solutions for precision agriculture). Jason is a patented inventor, published author and public speaker on a variety of technology topics.