

Jason Barke currently serves as the Group Manager for Forecasting and Methods at the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) where he leads the implementation of the Strategic Human Capital Management requirements for the Federal Government. He is currently the Co-lead for the President's Management Agenda (PMA) Priority 1, Strategy 3 on the Future of Work. Some of his other areas of expertise are workforce data analytics, skills and competency assessments, cybersecurity implementation, strategic planning, workforce, and succession planning. He has been at OPM for 14 years and has over 20 years of Federal service.