

Ben Henderson is the Deputy Chief Operating Officer for the State of Arizona where he works to deploy the Arizona Management System, a results-driven methodology for continuously improving the work of state government. This includes facilitating interagency collaboration on key initiatives, building a performance management system to drive effectiveness and efficiency, and helping state agencies to develop and enhance their strategic planning efforts. Previously, he worked as a fiscal analyst for the Arizona Legislature and in economic development and downtown revitalization for the City of Phoenix.