

Julia Richman

City of Boulder Chief Innovation and Analytics Officer

Julia is the Chief Innovation and Analytics Officer for the City of Boulder. She is responsible for the City's data, performance management and innovation programs. Prior to working for the City she spent nearly a decade at Deloitte Consulting, leading projects that advanced service and business operations strategies for her public sector clients. Mrs. Richman has worked with over 30 states, universities, non-profits, and the federal government on large scale, enterprise-wide transformation efforts including restructuring, cost reduction, business processes improvement, operations improvement, enterprise governance, portfolio management, innovation, and organizational design. Julia is a Colorado native, and a graduate of Leadership Denver and the Colorado Institute for Leadership Training. She is a mentor for Colorado Based Greenhouse Scholars and serves as part of the executive teams for both the Colfax Marathon and Groundwork Denver boards of directors. She has an MPP from the University of Chicago and an AB from Dartmouth College. She's an avid endurance athlete in hot pursuit of the 3 hour marathon and has a willingness to follow her husband on any number of loony backcountry adventures.
