Dr. Matthew McFadden spearheads cyber strategy for GDIT's federal, civilian, defense, and intelligence and homeland security divisions and develops advanced cyber capabilities and offerings to address agency missions. He represents a cyber workforce of more than 3000+ professionals, 30+ cyber alliances, and programs supporting some of the largest, unique cyber missions in the federal sector.