

Mike Bahniuk is a Senior Director in Samsung's B2B Display Division, specializing in the federal government sector. Mike has focused his career on marketing to federal decision makers through channel and direct activities. His expertise includes government IT contracting, developing sophisticated business solutions, building successful relationships, and a proven track record of results and sales growth. Mike lives in the Washington, D.C., area and in his spare time enjoys photography, bicycling, and ice hockey.