

Kimberly T. O'Grady

Kimberly O'Grady is an Intelligence Analyst assigned to the Office of Counterintelligence Operations & Corporate Investigations at Corporate Headquarters in Bethesda, MD. Kimberly was one of the founding members of Lockheed Martin Counterintelligence and had a significant role in program architecture and development.

Prior to joining Lockheed Martin, Kimberly worked for CACI, contracted to the Intelligence Community as a Counterintelligence (CI) Staff Officer. Before that Kimberly was an 1811 agent with the Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI). During her time with AFOSI Kimberly held a range of assignments as an in-garrison criminal and CI investigator, embedded CI/Force Protection support to active duty rapid deployment units, deployed CI collector, and Regional oversight to investigations and operations.

Kimberly holds a BA in Sociology from Fordham University and an MS in Intelligence Management from the University of Maryland.