

Shawn is the technical lead program manager for Peraton's \$1 billion dollar OPIAS Task Order to support foreign information advantages for the U.S. government. Under OPIAS, Peraton is increasing the ability of USCENTCOM and its mission partners—including USINDOPACOM, USCYBERCOM, and the other Unified Commands—to coordinate, collaborate, and fuse information-related capabilities, information operations (IO), and Information Warfare (IW). Peraton will also drive innovation to boost IO/IW capabilities, helping the U.S. solidify its quantitative and qualitative competitive advantage. Previously, Shawn worked as a communications and strategy consultant for government and private industry clients specializing in IO/IW and program management, including Northrop Grumman's Counter Threat Messaging Support Program.
