

Srini Singaraju
Chief Technology Officer, Akima

Srini is a seasoned, forward-thinking, and visionary leader in all facets of technical architecture, product and program management, business process transformation, cloud and analytics solutions, as well as engineering and software development methodologies. He has a proven track record of building relationships with senior-level executives, serving as a trusted advisor to CXOs within the public and commercial sector.