

Dr. Hon S. Pak, an internationally recognized as a clinician, healthcare leader and innovator in the field of health IT, mobile health and telemedicine in 2013 joined LongView as its Chief Medical Officer. In his current role, he is the medical and strategic advisor to the CEO while also supporting healthcare solutions delivery to the current clients. Prior joining LongView, he was the CEO of Diversinet, a mobile health technology company, which was acquired by IMS Health. During this 28 years in the military, he was the first Chief Medical Information Officer for the Army and the first physician Chief Information Officer for the Army Medical Department. Dr. Pak has extensive experience in strategy development, designing and implementing system level telehealth, mHealth and health IT programs, and he has conducted extensive research and published numerous articles, chapters, books dermatology and telemedicine. His passion is around patient engagement to improve outcomes and serving veterans. He has served as an adjunct faculty in Georgetown, and he is on the editorial board for Journal of Telemedicine and eHealth. In addition, he is past president of the American Telemedicine Association (ATA).