

Miguel Joey Aviles is a dynamic Talent Management Strategist and winner of the 2014 HR Leadership Award of Greater Washington, DC. Miguel currently serves as the Deputy Program Manager of the Defense Civilian Emerging Leader Program at the Department of Defense. He volunteers as the Chief Learning Officer of Young Government Leaders (YGL), a non-profit organization providing a voice to young emerging leaders in the federal government. As the Founder of YGL University, he provides visionary and transformational leadership with a sharp focus on the execution of learning and developmental initiatives that support the advancement of more than 9,000 Millennial members across the country.