

Tom Shoop is Vice President and Editor in Chief at Government Executive Media Group, a division of Atlantic Media Company, where he oversees both print and online editorial operations. He joined Government Executive magazine in 1989 and spent six years writing feature stories on federal management issues, interviewing the Vice President, the White House chief of staff and various Cabinet secretaries. Mr. Shoop was promoted to Executive Editor in 1995. The following year, he led the team that launched GovernmentExecutive.com, an award-winning Web-based daily news publication for federal managers and executives. He was named Editor in Chief of Government Executive in 2007 and Vice President in 2010. In November 2010, Mr. Shoop was elected a fellow of the National Academy of Public Administration, a congressionally chartered independent coalition of top public management and organizational leaders.

Prior to joining Government Executive, Mr. Shoop was a supervising editor at Macmillan Publishing in New York. He holds a B.A. in History from Carleton College in Northfield, Minnesota.
