

Thomas SasalaChief of Strategy, Plans & Architecture, Joint Service Provider – Pentagon

As the Chief of this Center, Mr. Sasala will be responsible for defining the overall technical strategies which are the basis for the development, sustainment, and operation of critical products and services provided to all customers. He will provide technical reviews and oversight to ensure that all actions are in accordance with the established strategies. In addition, the Center manages the structured, integrated strategic planning, portfolio management, and investment control for the JITSPP. This control includes identifying portfolios, services, investment needs; developing and scoping initiatives; verifying architectural alignment of initiatives; estimating and validating costs; prioritizing and incorporating investments into the budget planning documents.