

Traci Walker, Procurement Community of Practice Director, U.S. Digital Service - Traci joined the US Digital Service in October 2014 and serves as the Procurement Community of Practice Director. Prior to joining USDS, she was a Senior Contracting Officer at the Executive Office of the President for 7 years, where she managed and awarded the EOP's CIO and Office of Digital Strategy's procurements. Most notably she awarded and managed the digital service contracts for WhiteHouse.gov web infrastructure and support services, the Presidential Correspondence System, and Staff Portal. Based on the work she has done in designing contracts to support agile development methods and the procurement of digital services, she was tasked to help OMB as one of the original collaborators and drafters of the TechFAR, which was launched along with the Digital Service Playbook as best practice guides.
