Vectra® is the world leader in applying AI to detect and respond to cyberattacks. Vectra and its flagship Cognito® threat-detection and response platform enable the world's most consequential enterprise organizations to identify, hunt and investigate cyberattacks in real time – from cloud and data center workloads to user and IoT devices.