

Samuel Sanders Visner (Sam) is a national recognized cyber- and national security expert, currently serving as Director of the National Cybersecurity Federally Funded Research and Development Center (NCF) at MITRE, which develops architectures and solutions to strengthen the cybersecurity of the nation's business and critical infrastructure. Sam served previously in industry as the Senior Vice President/General Manager of ICF Cybersecurity and Resilience, and as VP/General Manager of CSC Global Cybersecurity. Sam also served as a Senior VP at SAIC and built an emergency management practice at Booz Allen Hamilton. Sam serves currently as a member of the Board of Directors of Oak Ridge Associated Universities, the Army Science Board, and the Intelligence Community Studies Board. Sam is an adjunct professor of cybersecurity policy, operations, and technology at Georgetown University. In addition, Sam served as the Chief of Signals Intelligence Programs at the National Security Agency. Sam is a frequent public speaker and author, having published in the Georgetown Journal of International Affairs, World Politics Review, and the Defense Intelligence Journal. Sam holds a bachelor's degree in international politics from Georgetown University and a masters in telecommunications from the George Washington University. Sam is married to Antoinette (Toni) Burnham, Washington DC's leading urban beekeeper.